ATR VERDICT: Having found only a progressive rival too strong over C&D in October, ESPONA BAY looks more than capable of opening his account. A 1lb nudge up in the ratings for Michael Bell's gelding could prove to be lenient and he gets the call over Filly Foden. The daughter of Ardad filled the runner-up spot on her last two outings for previous trainer Rod Millman and she's likely to be involved if running to a similar level. Handicap debutant Ya Habibti is the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: Free Your Spirit landed a breakthrough victory at Wolverhampton last time with something in hand and merits respect in his follow-up bid. However, a 7lb penalty does demand more of the Starman colt and preference is for the 71-rated ADALIDA. Although underwhelming on her seventh-placed stable/all-weather bow at Dunstall Park in November, a return to 7f and introduction of cheekpieces could see her back to form. Okiru is a feasible alternative.

ATR VERDICT: There was plenty of encouragement to be taken from LERWICK's latest third over C&D and he makes plenty of appeal in refitted blinkers. The six-year-old races off an unaltered mark and a belated third career victory could be on the horizon. Up The Anti defied a drift in the market when scoring over 6f here last month and shouldn't be underestimated off 3lb higher in the handicap, while Maid In Chelsea lurks on a dangerous mark.

ATR VERDICT: Heathcliff supplemented a good second over 6f at this venue when finishing a decent third over the same C&D last month. James Fanshawe's inmate should give another good account of himself at this level, but MOUNT ATHOS may have a touch too much class. The seven-year-old has recorded back-to-back placed efforts in Listed company in France and reverting to handicap company may bring about some compensation. Witch Hunter can make his presence felt too.

ATR VERDICT: Having continued his resurgence when completing a double over C&D last month, Foreseen isn't easily dismissed in his current vein of form. However, a 7lb rise from the assessor requires a career-best performance from the five-year-old and RAJINOORA is slightly more compelling. Michael Bell's filly arrives on the back of a second-placed reappearance at Chelmsford and any improvement could see her collecting. Port Road is also worth a second look racing from a decent draw.

ATR VERDICT: SAX APPEAL justified favouritism in ready fashion at Southwell 10 days ago and there is every chance that he will follow up. Warren Fentiman's claim effectively negates a 5lb penalty and a 10th career victory for the six-year-old might be imminent. Cruden made a pleasing start for his new yard when filling the runner-up spot at Wolverhampton last month and may serve the most resistance to the selection, ahead of Macari.

ATR VERDICT: Stable debutant Sonnerie Power has tumbled down the ratings and the change of scenery might spark a revival. Any market support for the son of Almanzor would be interesting, but FIDDLERS GREEN rates as the one to beat. The John O'Shea-trained gelding found only a subsequent winner too strong here three weeks ago and a 3lb rise looks workable. The introduction of cheekpieces could see Troy Story featuring too.

Top Tip: FIDDLERS GREEN (4)

Watch out for: SONNERIE POWER (8)
